Gary) San Francisco to look up some accessible place in the woods - He is disappointed in the ranch he counted on because the road is not yet finished and the stage trip from Browns Camp will be too difficult. Later he says he will join me if I take a cabin in the woods or by the sea but it seems indefinite at present. Perhaps I shall be led to the right place if I "serenely fold my hands and wait." Maude

You nice Mr Muir you, How bored you run away while I was in my beloved Ajai! I wrote you a postal telling you I would did not seem inclined to come to me as Mahomet was forced to go to the mountain.
It was wonderfully cool there and I had a lovely visit. He has gone to the Thomas has ^{C31} promised to visit me this week as she is lonely and I was coming right over to get you too to bear us company. You can follow my diary to find you had been here and gone. Whether now? There are surely no more worlds to conquer. If you hear of some rare chance for me to rent a cabin in a picturesque spot not too high and wild, let me know. Donald's pictures are really good and he has been stocking the Thacher Museum full of snails.

He has gained flesh for the first time in the three years of his illness.
I feel so much encouraged. So let me hear if you are coming back and if you are in town run in to see Donald, telephone first.
He will be there a week anyway.

With sincere affection,

Aunt R. Dickey
