4th August 1918.

Dear Mr. Muri

Your letter dated June 25th just reached me, it was very kind to have remembered our journey from Mombasa to Nairobi, I enjoyed it immensely, I am sure you will not think the word of me, if I bring back to your memory the little book about "The Dog" it would interest me so much, besides being a memento from a congenial and respected traveller.

I trust your journey was interesting in every respect and you reached your home quite in good health. My own life has not been very bright, I spent two months in the Nairobi hospital just as I left you, and since, my health has not been what it should, however I had a month shooting at Limbe and now I am in a healthy climate, and my old dog with me of course.

Trusting these lines will find you in good health

Yours respectfully & sincerely

P. O. Nairobi Barbary
