Chamard's
Lorne House Storm - wind - fog bound

Dear Miss:

I have your letter with Freeman's report Thank you. Please send me anything you may see, have, or put on paper to contract it.

Of course - the question is not yet settled whether the sources are available. Hager simply considers the character of the water.

As we go to press six weeks before publication I must have material for another edition - in November - early in September. Do what you can.

My Editorial in August "A Study of the South to itself" is being widely sent out and copied and favorably commented on.

I don't understand your letter in one respect: Am I right in thinking that we are to have an article <sup>or two?</sup> on the Amazon but none on Victoria Jalls? Our people must know immediately what to expect as they are making arrangements soon. Please address your reply to me at the Carbery Office though we shall probably be here through August. It will be opened by Bud & forwarded

I am solving and fixing and costing here - am disturbed by such anxieties about my next year's programme as whether we shall have any articles by John Muir - a former friend of mine!

Faithfully Yours. R. U. Johnson
